SKYLINES AUCTION PRESENTS

Believe

MOTZAEI SHABBOS, JANUARY 25, 2025 • 8:30 PM

FREE PROGRAM WILL BE STREAMING
LIVE AT SINAI AUCTION.ORG

Sinai Academy's enrollment has increased significantly this year.

Many students have transferred from public school, where the environment turned toxic and dangerous. They were forced to hide their Jewish identity, something that they knew very little about. They were headed down the path to assimilation, R"l.

At Sinai Academy they were welcomed and introduced to the beauty of Yiddishkeit. For the first time in their lives they were proud to be Jewish.

These students are now embracing Torah and mitzvos in a warm and loving environment.

Some boys are opening up a siddur and davening for the first time. Some are making a berachah on their first pair of tzitzis or their first pair of tefillin. Some boys are keeping Shabbos for the first time. Some are increasing their Torah learning before and after school.

May your support help Sinai Academy continue to inspire its students to grow in their Torah learning and mitzvah observance - and may we all be zocheh to the geulah shelaima, with yeshuos and nechamos b'korov.

“

We love coming to school every day because of Rabbi Silber.”

-- Eliad and Jacob,
Sinai Academy Students

SINAI

VOL. 10 Issue 3

Arthur had no interest in Yeshiva. His friend Josh, told him to give Sinai a try.

In charter school Alex felt unsafe as his school mates waved Palestinian flags at him.

David's mother couldn't believe that living in America, her son would have to hide his Jewish identity.

To any Jewish kid in public school:
Listen up...
(See page 15)

Sinai's Enrollment Up 30%!

SINAIAUCTION.ORG

Arthur was spending a summer day at the park and quickly made friends with Josh, who was of similar age. They began talking about school. Josh, who was Jewish himself, was in public school, yet was happy there and had no intention of leaving.

Arthur though, kept raving about Sinai and he encouraged Josh to give Sinai a try. At the same time, their mothers were chatting. The women became friends and exchanged numbers. Later that evening, after speaking with her son Josh, his mother called Arthur's mom and asked for Sinai Academy's number. An interview was set up and Josh became a student at Sinai Academy. Josh is thriving at Sinai and discovering the beauty of his Jewish roots. "I thank G-d that I met Arthur on that summer day," says Josh. "Judaism meant nothing to me before. Now that I am at Sinai, it's everything."

“I leave my house at 6:00 a.m. and hop on the train to get to Sinai on time each day. It can take me over two hours to get home after school, and I'm kind of tired at the end of the day. Although I live in Far Rockaway and I pass several schools along the way to Brooklyn, Sinai is the most suitable school for my background and level of observance.

"Sinai is not just a school. It's a family. The education is great, and the Rabbis bring Judaism to life, inspiring us to grow spiritually at our own pace. To any Jewish kid in public school: Listen up ... Remember that you are Jewish. At public school you can forget quite quickly. Sinai is the place to experience the beauty of Judaism and forever be connected."

Moshe – Sinai student

When David's mother brought him to register at Sinai, she realized that Sinai is where he should have been all along, instead of in public school. She told Mr. Feldshteyn, the English principal, "My son had to leave his Magen David necklace at home so that he wouldn't be taunted. He had to vehemently deny when he was suspected of being Jewish. I grew up in the former USSR. I know what it's like. I would never have believed that my son would have to hide his Jewish identity while living in America."

Baruch Hashem, David is embracing Yiddishkeit and experiencing the warm and loving environment at Sinai. He is thriving both spiritually and educationally.

After Alex did well on the admission exam, his mom met with Rabbi Blaustein to discuss tuition. As they were talking, Alex's mom began to choke up and wiped away some tears. "Are you OK?" asked Rabbi Blaustein. Alex's mom apologized for the tears and told Rabbi Blaustein how grateful she was that Sinai had accepted Alex. "We are so happy to have Alex join us," said Rabbi Blaustein. "I already received excellent reports. about Alex from Rabbi Silber, the principal, whom you and Alex just met. Word travels fast! I am sure that he will fit in great here."

Then Alex's mom shared Alex's recent experience. "My son attended charter school and felt unsafe, as his school mates waved Palestinian flags at him. He was being abused for being Jewish, something that he didn't even know anything about. We didn't know that Yeshiva was an option, as he barely knows anything about Judaism." Rabbi Blaustein assured her "Alex's new life, his new world, will begin now at Sinai."

On behalf of the entire hanhalla, rebbeim, staff, alumni, parents, dear talmidim and their future דורות we say “Thank You” to all of you many times over.

IMPORTANT HALACHIC NOTE:

According to most poskim (authorities of Jewish law), even a single ticket inappropriately placed into (or left out of) a raffle or auction may render the entire drawing invalid. The only feasible way, therefore, to conduct a large public auction is to rely on the fact that all donors participate with the understanding that they are relying on the good faith efforts of the sponsoring organization to do all they can to maintain the security and integrity of the event. Should a ticket inadvertently slip by (or a paid ticket be omitted), the donors have accepted this possibility and release the sponsoring charity and the prize winners of any claim. Please be assured that we have been, and will continue to be, as vigilant as possible to prevent this from happening. Nonetheless, we do need to ask for your understanding for anything that may slip.

DISCLAIMERS:

Pictures shown are for illustrative purposes only. Prizes shown may be of higher value than the gift certificate value. Restrictions may apply on select prizes. Any orders received after the auction will be considered a donation to Sinai Academy.

We gratefully acknowledge the heartfelt generosity of the event sponsors of Skylines, Sinai Academy's virtual auction.
